MILES WITH A MISSION: Team Living Proof Gears Up for the Tour Divide

"I wouldn't be here without TFDSOF. This ride is about proving that setbacks don't define us—we do."

This June, Team Living Proof, led by former Green Beret Zack Garner, will take on one of the toughest endurance challenges in the world—the Tour Divide. A 2,700-mile, self-supported ride from Banff, Canada, to the U.S.-Mexico border, the journey will test their strength, resilience, and determination as they navigate rugged terrain, extreme weather, and total isolation with no checkpoints or outside assistance.

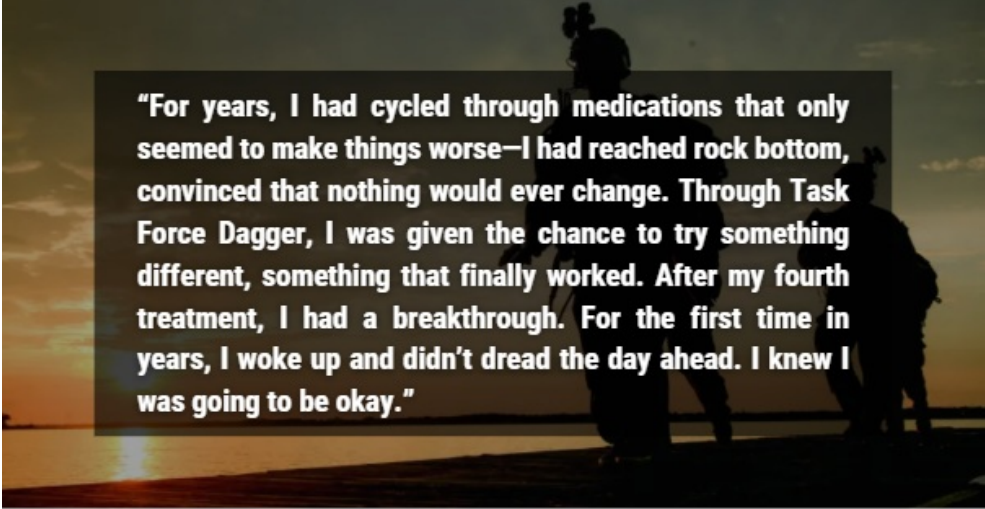

For Team Living Proof, this ride is more than just a challenge—it's a mission to honor the SOF community and raise critical funds for TFDSOF. After a career-ending injury and life-threatening setbacks, Zack found a path forward with the support of TFDSOF. Now, he's riding to ensure more SOF warriors and families receive the same life-changing care.

JOIN THE MISSION TODAY!

SUPPORT TEAM LIVING PROOF

Every mile of this journey is fueled by those who believe in the mission. If you'd like to get involved—whether through sponsorship of the ride or in-kind contributions like supplements, protein, or lodging along the route—please contact Jillian Andrews at jillian.andrews@taskforcedagger.org.

Hope Starts Here.

"For years, I had cycled through medications that only seemed to make things worse—I had reached rock bottom, convinced that nothing would ever change. Through Task Force Dagger, I was given the chance to try something different, something that finally worked. After my fourth treatment, I had a breakthrough. For the first time in years, I woke up and didn't dread the day ahead. I knew I was going to be okay."

At TFDSOF, we believe no SOF warrior or family should have to fight their battles alone. Whether you're seeking support for yourself or a loved one, or want to help provide life-changing treatments, we're here.
